

REMARKS

In the aforesaid Office Action, it was held that the previous submission of a substitute specification rendered the previous Response non-compliant inasmuch as the amended paragraphs of the substitute specification did not contain markings identifying the changes made.

The previous substitute specification was in response to a non-final action.

It is believed that the current substitute specification has been provided with makings showing all the changes to the originally filed specification and is suitable for examination, which is most respectfully requested.

Respectfully submitted,
